A BILL

To direct the Secretary of State to provide assistance to civil society organizations in Burma that work to secure the release of prisoners of conscience and political prisoners in Burma, and assistance to current and former prisoners of conscience and political prisoners in Burma, and for other purposes.

1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

1 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

2 This Act may be cited as the “Burma Political Pris-3 oners Assistance Act”.

4 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

5 Congress makes the following findings:

6 (1) Aung San Suu Kyi and the National 7 League for Democracy (NLD) pledged that they 8 “would not arrest anyone as political prisoners”, but 9 have failed to fulfill this promise since they took con-
10 trol of Burma’s Union Parliament and the Govern-11 ment’s executive branch in April 2016.

12 (2) As of March 1, 2019, there are 354 political 13 prisoners in Burma, 43 of them serving sentences, 14 86 awaiting trial inside prison, and 225 awaiting 15 trial outside prison, according to the Assistance As-16 sociation for Political Prisoners in Burma.

17 (3) During its three years in power, the NLD
18 Government has provided pardons for Burma’s polit-
19 ical prisoners on three occasions. State Counsellor
20 Aung San Suu Kyi took steps to secure the release
21 of nearly 235 political prisoners. On May 23, 2017, 22 former President Htin Kyaw granted pardons to 259
23 prisoners, including 89 political prisoners. On April 24 17, 2018, current President Win Myint pardoned 25 8,541 prisoners, including 36 political prisoners.

1           (4) The Burmese security forces have used colo-
2           nial-era laws to arrest and charge political prisoners 3           and prisoners of conscience. These laws include but 4           are not limited to provisions of the Penal Code, the 5           Peaceful Assembly and Peaceful Procession Act, the 6           1908 Unlawful Associations Act, the 2013 Tele-
7           communications Act, and the 1923 Official Secrets
8           Act.

9           (5) On January 5, 2015, then-President Thein
10          Sein announced the reconstitution of the “Scruti-
11          nizing Committee into the Prisoners of Conscience
12          Affairs Committee”, which was to comprise 28 mem-13          bers and which would “promptly [carry] out pris-14          oners of conscience affairs at the grassroots level”.
15          However, the Committee never met and no informa-16          tion has been made publicly available regarding its 17          mandate, procedures, or activities.

18          (6) On December 12, 2017, Reuters reporters 19          Wa Lone and Kyaw Soe Oo were arrested and 20          charged with violating the Official Secrets Act, con-
21          tinuing a trend of restricting media and free speech 22          and attempting to thwart coverage of the events in 23          Rakhine State.

24          (7) On September 3, 2018, Wa Lone and Kyaw
25          Soe Oo were convicted and sentenced to seven years

1 in prison. Time Magazine included pictures of the 2 two reporters on the cover of its “Person of the 3 Year” issue on December 10, 2018, as two of the 4 “Guardians and the War on Truth”.

5 (8) According to Burmese free speech organiza-
6 tion Athan, 44 journalists and 142 activists since 7 2016 were charged with colonial-era laws used to sti-8 fle dissent and restrict activist groups and have 9 faced trial.

10 (9) Since December 2018, three Kachin activ-
11 ists were sentenced to six months in prison in con-
12 nection with peaceful antiwar protests; a protester
13 demonstrating against the Myitsone Dam (a con-14 troversial Chinese-backed hydropower project) was 15 charged for peaceful demonstrations, and police used 16 excessive force to crack down on peaceful protesters
17 in Kayah State, with some of the demonstrators 18 charged under vaguely worded, repressive laws.

19 (10) On August 18, 2017, Aung Ko Htwe was 20 arrested because he gave a media interview in which 21 he described his experience as a child soldier, includ-
22 ing how the military abducted and forcibly recruited 23 him when he was 13 years old. He was charged 24 under Section 505(b) of Burma’s Penal Code. He

1 faces up to two-and-a-half years in jail from the date 2 of his conviction.

3 SEC. 3. CHILD SOLDIERS.

4 It is the sense of Congress that former child soldier
5 Aung Ko Htwe should be immediately and unconditionally
6 released, and that no one should be jailed for freely ex-7 pressing him or herself or for speaking against the use 8 of child soldiers.

9 SEC. 4. PEACEFUL ASSEMBLY.

10 It is the sense of Congress that Burma must imme-
11 diately drop defamation charges against the three Kachin 12 activists, Lum Zawng, Nang Pu, and Zau Jet, who led 13 a peaceful rally in Mytkyina, the capital of Kachin State 14 in April 2018, and that the prosecution of Lum Zawng, 15 Nang Pu, and Zau Jet is an attempt by the Burmese au-
16 thorities to intimidate, harass, and silence community 17 leaders and human rights defenders who speak out about 18 military abuses and the impact on civilian populations.

19 SEC. 5. PRESS FREEDOM.

20 It is the sense of Congress that Burma must imme-
21 diately and unconditionally release Wa Lone and Kyaw
22 Soe Oo, and that the imprisonment of these two Reuters
23 journalists for documenting and reporting the crimes
24 under international law committed against the Rohingya 25 people is a gross injustice. Congress holds that press free-

1 dom is a fundamental human right and should be upheld
2 and protected in Burma and everywhere.

3 SEC. 6. STATEMENT OF POLICY.

4 It is the policy of the United States that—

5 (1) all prisoners of conscience and political pris-
6 oners in Burma should be unconditionally and im-
7 mediately released;

8 (2) the Administration and the Department of 9 State should use all of their diplomatic tools to en-10 sure that all prisoners of conscience and political 11 prisoners in Burma are released; and 12 (3) the Burmese Government should repeal or 13 amend all laws that violate the rights to freedom of 14 expression, peaceful assembly, or association, and 15 ensure that laws such as the Telecommunications 16 Law of 2013 and the Unlawful Associations Act of 17 1908, and laws relating to the right to peaceful as-18 sembly, all comply with international human rights 19 standards.

20 SEC. 7. POLITICAL PRISONERS ASSISTANCE.

21 The Secretary of State shall provide assistance to 22 civil society organizations in Burma that work to secure 23 the release of prisoners of conscience and political pris-24 oners in Burma, and assistance to current and former

1 prisoners of conscience and political prisoners in Burma.

2 Such assistance shall include the following:

3           (1) Support for the documentation of human 4 rights violations with respect to prisoners of con-
5 science and political prisoners.

6           (2) Support for advocacy in Burma to raise 7 awareness of issues relating to prisoners of con-
8 science and political prisoners.

9           (3) Support for efforts to repeal or amend laws 10 that are used to imprison individuals as either pris-11 oners of conscience or political prisoners.

12           (4) Support, including travel costs, and legal 13 fees, for families of prisoners of conscience and polit-14 ical prisoners.

15           (5) Support for health, including mental health, 16 and post-incarceration assistance in gaining access 17 to education and employment opportunities or other 18 forms of reparation to enable former prisoners of 19 conscience and political prisoners to resume a nor-20 mal life.

21           (6) The creation, in consultation with former 22 political prisoners and prisoners of conscience, their 23 families, and representatives, of an independent pris-
24 oner review mechanism in Burma to review the cases 25 of individuals who may have been charged or de-

1       prived of their liberty for peacefully exercising their 2       human rights, review all laws used to arrest, pros-
3       ecute, and punish individuals as political prisoners
4       and prisoners of conscience, and provide rec-5       ommendations to the Burmese Government for the 6       repeal or amendment of all such laws.

7       SEC. 8. DEFINITIONS.

8       In this Act:

9               (1) PRISONER OF CONSCIENCE.—The term
10       “prisoner of conscience” means a person imprisoned 11       or otherwise physically restricted primarily because 12       of his or her political, religious, or other conscien-
13       tiously held beliefs, ethnic origin, sex, race, ethnicity, 14       language, national or social origin, economic status, 15       birth, sexual orientation, or gender identity, or for 16       exercising his or her right to freedom of expression 17       or other human rights, and who has not used vio-
18       lence or advocated violence.

19               (2) POLITICAL PRISONER.—The term “political 20       prisoner” means a person who is arrested, detained, 21       or imprisoned for political reasons under political 22       charges or wrongfully under criminal and civil 23       charges because of his or her perceived or known ac-24       tive role in, perceived or known supporting role in, 25       or perceived or known association with activities pro-

- 1 moting freedom, justice, equality, human rights, or
- 2 civil and political rights, including ethnic rights.
